Prince Asamoah Owusu story in his own words:

“I completed my Senior High School education in 2020 at Mfantsipim School with a grade of 08 in my WASSCE Examination. My father has been the one helping me in my tertiary education by helping me secure a room at someone's home at Ayeduase and move from there to lectures every day in a semester. I have had quite some financial assistance from my aunty to support the payment of the room for my stay.

Unfortunately, my father has been laid off from work which has left me with some threatening thoughts about how I am going to continue with my degree program in school. I believe I have an astonishing history in my academics. I have always been a first-class student and I believe with your assistance I'll continue to be a first-class student and finish my degree programme with a big success. I have taken advantage of programs offered virtually and in-face on campus. I have been trained as an investment analyst at the Finance and Investment Club, KNUST where I worked in a team of three to perform a bottom-up analysis on a company listed on the Ghana Stock Exchange and pitched our findings to a panel and we came out as first place winners and also received positive feedback on our analytical skills.

I also took the opportunity offered by the African Leadership Group (ALX) to pursue a remote programme in Financial Modelling and Valuation Analysis with the Corporate Finance Institute which has broadened my understanding of financial analysis. I believe when your office offers me the sponsorship, I will be able to achieve more and impact more lives”.

Thanks to the JEQ Foundation’s strategic partnership with the Mfantsipim Old Student Association 1980 USA (MOBA80 USA) chapter, Prince is now exceeding his academic goals. He and his investment team at KNUST won the Ghana Stock Exchange Perform a Bottom-Up Analysis of the Company, and Pitch Competition on December 20, 2022, at the Accra City Hotel, Ghana.
